1c: Two further problems may have beset Solitaire, a law-suit against Rutan (over a different design, the suit widely considered to have been all of unfair, malevolent & frivolous and although it was ultimately dismissed, it nevertheless had an extreme negative impact), then Rutan's subsequent withdrawal from the market. Also along the way, there were problems with a fabricator/supplier.

Rutan had contracted with Task to build the components and J.K. decided he would just rip off the design, make few changes, give it a new name and go into production. Rutan terminated his contracts with Task Research over that and I think he was able to apply enough legal pressure to quash sales after ~50 sets of plans were sold. Something like a dozen airplanes were actually built. So yep ...
